The Problem
Barriers to College Access

Too many qualified students miss out on college simply due to a lack of access to adequate college guidance and information.

Every year,

500,000 academically qualified, lower-income students who should go on to college fail to do so.

1:1,000 counselor per students in high schools serving predominantly low-income and minority students.
Who’s Missing Out?
A Closer Look

Counselors spend the majority of their time...

Lifting up
the highest achieving students

Keeping afloat
the lowest achieving students
The Majority of students will graduate high school without much extra support, but pursuing college is harder to tackle alone.
A college degree provides the greatest likelihood of full-time employment & higher earnings.

And there is a steady annual decline in full-time college enrollment.

Yet enrollment among minority students is growing!

Focus on serving low-income, first-gen, & minority students.
Strive for College
Our History

2007
Strive begins
Michael J. Carter founded Strive for from his dorm room at Washington University in St. Louis as an in-person mentoring program serving one local high school. Over the next few years, Strive expanded to serve multiple high schools in St. Louis and to twenty different campus chapters across the country.

2012
UStrive takes mentoring virtual
A grant from the JA and Kathryn Albertson Foundation helped Strive pilot virtual mentoring in Idaho and build a proprietary technology platform, UStrive, to scale Strive’s virtual mentoring program nationally.

2016
Growing interest and impact
Strive merged with the national I’m First! project and began a partnership with The Common Application, integrating I’m First’s College Partners and begins seeing hundreds of thousands of students referred to Strive for mentoring assistance via Common App.

Strive creates partnerships and expands
Strive mentors from Corporate Partners like Deloitte and American Express and College Partners alike are assisting thousands of aspiring and current college students annually. We are also distributing 6,000 copies of the I'm First! Guide to College to low-income serving schools and community organizations every year.

I'm First
Strive for College exists to ensure that every qualified student who wants to attend college has the opportunity to do so. We call these students “Strivers.”
Strivers are talented and motivated college-bound students. Often they are from low or middle-income families and many are the first in their family to go to college.

They have fewer opportunities to get help at home, in school, or in their community.

Finding someone to assist them with researching best-fit colleges, raising test scores, or making sense of their financial aid options can mean the difference between realizing their college goals and falling short.
This is Frances. At the start of her senior year:
• she had many unanswered questions about college
• college counseling in her school was lacking
• but then...Frances discovered Strive thanks to The Common Application.

“It fit perfectly with the type of program that I had been searching for. I never had that person that was always there to answer my college questions,” said Frances.

“My amazing mentor, Mr. Copeland, believes in me and is always there to answer my questions about college.”

Frances was accepted into her dream school, Brandeis University, with a near-full ride scholarship!
Strive for College

What is it?

We are a national movement that supports better outcomes for Strivers.

In addition to our programs that help students at each step of the process, we partner with two and four-year colleges and universities to help institutions recruit and retain Strivers through targeted marketing opportunities, effective professional development, and collaborative learning.

The Strive Platform
Connecting Students with College Guidance

Big data, smart technology. Strive for College connects students with dedicated online mentoring on its custom-built platform.
The Strive Platform
Tools and Features

The Strive Platform provides students and mentors with access to a best-in-class college planning curriculum, sophisticated communications tools, smart college search, task generator, and a community Q&A forum.

The mobile app allows mentors and students to message and call securely anytime, from anywhere. It’s like having a mentor in your pocket!
How It Works

Connection
Students create a Strive account and select a mentor.

Curriculum
Students and mentors go through a college guidance and career planning curriculum.

Matching
Strive uses smart data to find both the mentor and the colleges that best match a student's individual needs.

Discovery
Strive's technology and online mentoring reliably produces positive college outcomes.

Success
Most Strivers find their best-fit college and persist to graduation.

97% of Strive students served were accepted to and enrolled in college
84% in a four-year college or university
91% completed forms to receive financial aid
80% continue through sophomore year
Strive Platform
Benefits for College Partners

- Manage an enhanced profile to highlight your campus programs and support services for low-income and first-generation college students. Add photos, videos, and helpful links to make your page stand out.
Strive Platform
Benefits for College Partners

- Access a dashboard to view and export prospective students who have demonstrated an interest in your institution through the platform.
Strive Platform
Benefits for College Partners

• Mobilize your campus community and alumni network to be mentors with Strive. We’ll customize outreach materials to help you promote the opportunity and create a custom mentor branch so you can track all of your mentors’ activities.

• Now, with the help of a grant from the Michael and Susan Dell Foundation, you can also connect your currently enrolled college students to receive college persistence, transfer and career mentoring on the Strive Platform.

Note: Mentoring with Strive requires every volunteer mentor to pass a background check and pay a nominal Background Check and Safety Fee. Though not required, we invite College Partners to sponsor the costs for your mentors.
I’m First! is a Strive initiative celebrating and supporting first-generation college students. Resources include:

- the nationally distributed Guide to College publication
- a website featuring video stories and blogs from first-gen students and grads

For College Partners

- Full page profile in the Guide to College highlighting your campus programs and support services for low-income and first-generation college students

Strive Five Recognition
Benefits for College Partners

Strive for College has identified benchmarks in five critical areas—the “Strive Five”—that we believe all postsecondary institutions should strive to achieve to mark a true commitment to college opportunity and success for all students.

1. Inclusion - high % Pell-eligible student enrollment
2. Diversity - high % underrepresented minority enrollment
3. Affordability - low net-price and high financial aid
4. Completion - high retention and graduation rates
5. Outcomes - improving economic mobility among graduates

College Partners that meet any of these five criteria receive special recognition by way of a customized Badge and press release to highlight their exceptional achievements.
